

Trio joins 'Possessions'

By Gregg Goldstein

April 17, 2008

NEW YORK -- Trent Ford, Jamie Murray and Autumn Reeser are starring in the dark comedy "Possessions" for first-time writer/director Nathan Adolphson. Ford ("How to Deal") plays a suicidal man with cancer haunted the voice of a Frenchman, who seems to be taking over his body.

The man and the voice in his head form an odd quadrangle with Murray ("Dexter") and Reeser ("The OC"). The 5858 Films production begins shooting Friday in Los Angeles.